Telephone legal advice is available for simple information and referrals (call 1300 366 424). There are limitations to dealing with legal problems over the telephone; for example, relevant documents cannot be examined. Telephone advice is usually restricted to basic legal rights and obligations relating to a particular situation. If the problem is too complex or too lengthy for a phone call, the client will be advised to make an appointment at a Commission office or referred to other sources of assistance. We also provide the option of a half-hour discussion by telephone if a client can not come to our office. Our website www.lsc.sa.gov.au also has a Legal Chat service which allows people to chat online with our lawyers to seek legal information (but not legal advice).

Regional Access

 1300 032 186 (available 24/7)

 www.saregionalaccess.org.au

Regional Access is a free telephone and online counselling service for people who are feeling the pressures and stresses of everyday life, and reside or work in regional, rural or remote South Australia (eg. outside of the Adelaide metropolitan region).

Commissioned by the Country SA Primary Health Network (PHN), Regional Access is delivered by On the Line, a professional social health business with over 55 years' experience delivering counselling support services to the community. This Low Intensity (Li) psychological service is available 24-hours a day, seven days a week.

Regional Access will provide Li psychological services to people who:

- Have a concern or worry and want to talk about it;
- Are at risk of the onset of mental illness;
- Have a moderate to severe mental condition at risk of relapse, in need of resilience and capacity building;

An in-home visiting support program for vulnerable families with children under 15 years of age to address and better cope with challenges caring for their children. Families are provided with holistic case management to achieve stability and build resilience so that they are able to nurture their children in a safe supportive family environment preventing abuse and neglect and ultimately children going into care. The Family Support Worker helps parents understand their children's development and needs and helps build the family's connection to community and support services. Parents are encouraged to self assess their strengths and challenges and are supported to set and achieve goals including but not limited to self esteem and confidence, parenting strategies, social skills, relationships, home management, budgeting, nutrition, connection to early childhood and education services, and personal health and well being.
